A. Vehicles

5. Types of Vehicles Taxed; Exemptions and Definitions

§ 84. Types of vehicles taxed, generally

Whether a particular vehicle is subject to licensing or registration requirements is dependent upon the terms of the licensing or registration enactments. Where the licensing or registration requirements are made applicable to “motor vehicles,” there is usually a statutory definition of the term “motor vehicles,” and only those vehicles that fall within the statutory definition, and were operated upon the highways during the licensing or registration period, are subject to the licensing and registration requirements.

An automobile that is not driven on the roads or highways, but is on stationary blocks in a garage, or is parked on private property for use as a storage shed, is not subject to registration.
A statute exempting certain vehicles from the motor vehicle registration provisions is not unconstitutional due to vagueness, where it is clear that the legislature's intent is to require registration of all vehicles capable of regular travel on the roads of the state.

A school bus is not a for hire vehicle and thus is not a motor transportation business or urban transportation business which would be subject to public utility tax rather than general business and occupation tax.
